

This is a pile of all of the intestines of a young pig. They need to have the poop squeezed out of them.

I do this by using a hose to put a bit of water in the intestine. I fill about two feet of intestine with water. I squeeze the water down the intestine until it and all the poop comes out the other end. I do this over the ground, not my nice clean table.

In addition to the poop, I expect a few worms to come out.
