

This is the caul attached to the stomach. It is fragile enough that you can carefully rip it free from the stomach.

The caul membrane is mostly fat. I sometimes use it to wrap roasts to make it look fancy. Today I am simply going to put it in the stock bucket. It will become flavor for soup stock.