

At some point, I will rip the intestine, spilling yellow poop everywhere. Since I got rid of most of the organs that would be spoiled by poop earlier, this is not a big problem.

To fix it, I use string to tie off the torn ends.

The mesentery is fat, and can be put in the stock bucket. However, poop will spoil it. After I tie off the intestine, I wash off the area with water. When I get all of the intestine peeled off, I sniff the mesentery and throw out the parts that smell like poop.
